Appreciation for the PSP Review Training

Jay Baker, PSP, of Temple Inland volunteered to lead the PSP Review training. According to Diane Gallatin, CPP – one of the attendees – Jay almost single-handedly presented the 7-week PSP course at Temple Inland. He did arrange for speakers for a couple of the PSP sessions. Attendees of the PSP Review course were so impressed and thankful that they took up a collection and presented Jay with a gift certificate to Perry's Steakhouse.

Swine-Flu Information

By Michael R. Cummings, CPP
President of ASIS International

In an effort to keep our members informed about the swine flu status, ASIS is compiling late-breaking documents and communications from government agencies; these are accessible at the top right hand corner of the ASIS home page, under Advisories, and will be updated as news unfolds.

An effort has been made to include official documents from different parts of the world. Much of what is included in this information may be applicable to other locations, as well.

ASIS will continue to monitor the situation and to communicate critical updates. In addition, SecurityManagement Daily will cover and provide relevant news every day.

As you know, this situation is still being assessed; a pandemic has not been declared. Nevertheless, it does provide an opportunity for members to review their pandemic and business continuity plans and procedures to ensure that they are current. Should you need any information from ASIS in this regard, please refer to the Resource Guide on Swine Influenza. If further information is needed, please email Eva Giercuskiewicz, Director, Library Services and Publications, at info@asisonline.org. or call her at 1.703.518.1470.
